Wajra O' Force have shown their willingness to collaborate with Vidushi Gargi Centre for Women Development of GTU and have invited us to serve as their knowledge partners for Wajra's her STEAM – Life Skills project. As a part of this collaboration, female faculty members and of various PG Schools have visited the schools adopted by the foundation to educate the young girls on various topics in order to boost their motivation to continue with their education.

The initiative extended to GGI Cantonment School on February 3rd, where Dr. Neelam M. Nathani and her postgraduate students named Meghal Vaishnani, Raval Rajvee, Mansi Popat covered topics such as microscope usage, understanding periods, addressing nicotine addiction, and promoting awareness of good touch and bad touch. Emphasis was placed on the importance of hygiene, and the potential detrimental effects of nicotine addiction on both career and life were discussed. The session was incredibly impactful and resonant, evoking such a strong connection that it moved students to tears by the conclusion.

The initiative aimed to instil a sense of curiosity and appreciation for science, motivating students to consider science-related careers. Moreover, the emphasis on hygiene awareness contributes to the overall well-being of individuals, preparing them for the challenges of the modern world. In conclusion, Wajra's Life Skills Development Initiative, in collaboration with GTU, is making a significant impact on the holistic growth of individuals by combining practical life skills, scientific education, and hygiene awareness. The initiative has the potential to shape the future of students and prepare them for success in both personal and professional spheres. Paraphrase it into proper words and merge everything in one paragraph.
